

A natural bonsai has no obvious man made design elements visible to the eye . There are no sudden big changes on the taper of trunks or branches. The trunk and branches will have a nice flowing natural taper to them.